

FAQ

1) Do You Manufacture Per Contract Basis or One time orders?

We manufacture as per your requirements. It could be a one time order or a ten year tender. 2) What is the minimum Quantity you Manufacture?

Our minimum quantity varies per type of product. We have always been proud of being flexible to meet customer demands. From the smallest customers to big multinationals and governments. 3) Can you manufacture for the food and pharmaceutical industries?

Yes, Our facilities are approved to manufacture for the strictest hygienic requirements. 4) Can you manufacture for export?

Yes, we have manufactured for clients from 37 different countries and can handle each logistical aspect until your consignment reaches your destination. 5) What are your injection machine press sizes?

Our machines range from 80 tons to 1500 tons, but can manufacture up to 2500 tons with the help of our partners. 6) Can you deliver/manufacture for time sensitive industries? Yes, we have thorough knowledge of the importance of timely deliveries and have developed our own fool proof method to deal with production and delivery schedules. We also specialize in short notice orders for unprecedented demand. 7) Can you manufacture parts that require High Tolerance?

Yes, We manufacture parts for various electrical, computer and medical applications that require exact or high tolerances. 8) What types of raw material do you use?

We use the best raw material suited for your products. In case you have a specialized requirement for a particular material, we will outsource it for you and guarantee its performance. 9) Do you have your own tooling & Molding Capabilities? Yes, We utilize the services of our associate company "Technical Molding Eng Tools Ltd". They are conveniently located next to our facility and are capable of manufacturing most types of molds. We also have established network of International Mold makers that co-operate with us for specialized demands. 10) Do you accept 3rd party molds?

Yes we do. 11) Do you have an assembly Service for assembling interdependent parts?

Yes

For any extra info, feel free to contact us...